Excerpt: . come unprepared. Were, then, his previous study and reflection, for which the time of action had not come, were they not practical, because they did not result in immediate action? Would they even have been not practical if the time for action had never come to him? As the wise man said, There is a time for everything under the sun, and the time for one thing cannot be used as the time for another. That there is time for action, all concede; few consider duly that there is also a time for preparation. To use the time of preparation for preparation is practical, whatever the method; to postpone preparation to the time for action is not practical. Our new navy is preparing now; it can scarcely be said, as regards its material, to be yet ready. The day of grace is still...
