RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 30 pages. Original publisher: Washington, DC : National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Office of Inspector General, 2000 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)644248680 Subject: Astronautics -- United States -- Communication systems -- Evaluation. Excerpt: . . . Finding B. ODIN Desktop Seat Assignment Approaches NASA installations have used either an installation-wide or installation-component approach in selecting ODIN desktop seats for their employees. Though either approach may satisfy employee work requirements, the ODIN Program Office had not assessed the merits of the two approaches or issued guidance on their use. The two approaches resulted from the installations discretion in making seat assignment decisions. Without an assessment of the two approaches and appropriate guidance, NASA lacks assurance that it has assigned seats in the most efficient and effective manner. Management Controls The Clinger-Cohen Act of 1996 gives each executive agency the authority to acquire IT resources and makes each agency responsible for effectively managing them. Effective IT management requires that the agency implement management controls to ensure the appropriate acquisition and use of IT resources. With respect to ODIN, management controls are necessary because ODIN involves a significant acquisition of IT resources. Management assessments represent one form of management control and can be used to ensure that the ODIN program acquires and manages desktop computing resources in the most cost-effective manner. Assignment of Desktop Seats to Employees The NASA CIO has delegated overall ODIN program responsibility to the ODIN Program Office at Goddard. In turn, the ODIN Program Office delegated the seat assignment responsibility to the installations. The installations then used either an installation-wide or installation-component approach in meeting their seat assignment responsibilities. Each approach is discussed below. Installation-wide approach. Johnson, Marshall, and Kennedy use. . . This item ships from La Vergne,TN....
