In the summer of 1884, Mr. Pabor, in an article published in the Journal of Commerce, Denver, wrote as follows: I do not think I am indulging in wild flights of imagination. I look about me and in the work of the present year I see the promise of the future. One hundred and ten acres of orchard lands set to trees this spring, point like an unerring index to the coming thousands of acres yet to be planted. The trees show a vigorous growth, though taken...
